

STATE OF THE ART/ART OF THE STATE

This exhibition focuses on contemporary art by artists currently living in, or native to, the state of North Carolina. Artists were invited to bring a single work of art to be installed in the museum, delivering the work within a 24-hour period (between 5:00 pm Friday, May 6 and 5:00 pm Saturday, May 7, 2011). During this timeframe, one of four internationally renowned curators was present to greet each artist, shake his/her hand - and direct the exhibition installation. The design of this project was to provide the participating artists equal opportunity to meet a significant curator working in the field of contemporary art today and have their work seen by all four visiting curators. 611 artists from across the state of North Carolina participated in this event.

The curators for this event were:

Nicholas Cullinan, Curator of International Art at the Tate Modern, London

Apsara Di Quinzio, Assistant curator of painting and sculpture at the San Francisco Museum of Modern Art

Timothy Anglin Burgard, The Ednah Root Curator of American Art and the Curator-in-Charge of the American Art Department for the Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco

This event pays homage to the open, creative curatorial spirit of the late art world maverick, Walter Hopps (1932-2005). In 1978, responding to a comment from his junior colleague, Deborah Velders (Jensen) about the problems artists face gaining access to notable curators, Walter Hopps conceived an entirely open, unmediated event to remedy the situation. His program invited any artist to bring a single work of art, to meet Hopps, and see installation of work. This event called "36 Hours" occurred in a gritty, street-level alternative space called MOTA (Museum of Temporary Art), located in downtown Washington, D.C. There was no jurying, no selection (or rejection), and no entry fee. The only restrictions were size (work needed to fit through the door), weight (regarding transporting/placing and support capacity), and the delivery time frame (36 hours).
